

COUNCIL ASKS COUNTY AND NEW BRIDGE

BIG PUSH TO NAME HOOVER UNDER WAY

Drive to Clinch Nomination Meets Many Obstacles

Kansas City, June 6—(AP)—The drive to clinch the Republican presidential nomination for Herbert Hoover is on, but whether it succeeds depends on the ability of his managers to overcome the many obstacles opponents are placing in his way.

Encouraged by national committee decisions which in the last two days have brought 33 delegates definitely under the Hoover banner, his backers are expressing increased confidence that he can go over on an early ballot.

Leaders Yet To Come

The convention will be in full blast a week hence, but at this stage of the preliminaries many of the men who will play a big hand in the selection of the nominee are not yet on the scene.

Lowden is still to come. Curtis of Kansas is an absentee. Mellon, the man who has not yet fully shown his hand, won't be here until Sunday. Leaders of the so-called farm revolt are just beginning to show up.

Until the whole picture is complete, and some of the big un-instructed delegations reach the convention city, hold their caucuses and chart their course, the final word can not be written. Even then, many party leaders point out that no national convention is bomb proof against the numerous uncertainties which crop up at any time in political maneuvering.

Farm Vote A Problem

One of these is considered in some quarters as apt to come to a head as a result of the disappointment expressed in the corn belt over President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm bill. The farm leaders have served notice that they will be on hand to press their claims, but so far there has been little concrete evidence of their program getting under way.

The bulk of the men who will direct the farm attack are expected before the end of the week, and a special headquarters will be set up in the Ambassador hotel from which strategical moves, aimed largely against Hoover, will emanate.

No one in the Hoover camp, where there has been activity for days, professes to be worried over the outlook. The success of the Hoover followers in the committee hearings which may be concluded before midnight, has brought charges from some of their foes of steam roller tactics, a suggestion that brings equally vehement disclaimers in return.

Texas Fight Looms Big

Both sides are making every effort to get proxies for absent national committee members, for use particularly when the fight for control of the 26 delegates from Texas reaches the show down stage, perhaps late today. Each group is charging the other with going too far in this direction.

One of the party wheel horses who has been doing all he can to keep delegates from Hoover is Charles D. Hiles, of New York, who prefers Coolidge and is definitely set against the commerce secretary. On most of the ballots he has had the support of Chairman Butler, the president's close friend, but on one occasion yesterday, in the vote on a district contest from Louisiana they went different directions. Butler joining the Hoover forces.

One of the results of the committee votes taken yesterday was to keep Perry Howard, negro national committeeman, in the saddle in Mississippi. A contesting delegation sought to keep Howard and his group of delegates out of the convention, but Howard, whose delegation is instructed for Hoover, got the decision by acclamation.

The committee still had before it today contests involving about 30 delegates seats, but the fight in Texas, between R. E. Greger, national committeeman and Hoover champion, on the one hand, and a group headed by Representative Wurzbach, the only Republican Texas congressman, on the other, overshadowed all the rest.

SEAT LOWDENITES

Kansas City, June 6—(AP)—Four delegates-at-large to the Republican convention from South Carolina, pledged as supporters of Lowden, were seated today when the national committee ratified the withdrawal of a contest against them.

The delegation whose credentials were recognized is headed by Joseph W. Tolbr, national committeeman from South Carolina.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

Kansas City, June 6—(AP)—Workmen today began to erect the huge "jewel" to be suspended in front of Convention Hall, meeting place of the 1928 republican national convention. This is to be a huge mass of colored prisms, nineteen feet high, bearing the eagle as emblematic of the republican party, centered in a cloudburst of color. By daytime the sun will illuminate the prism and at night floodlights will keep up the flash and color.

Today also sees downtown Kansas City decked in its first convention garb—pennants and banners on all the streets.

Monday night's parade will be a blaze of light. Besides Flambeau clubs lighted electrically and otherwise—one float, that of a local electrical company, will consist of nothing but illumination, thousands of light bulbs rising in a mound of white fire.

Convention Hall itself gradually took on the convention air. In the north lobby seventy-six telegraph sets will carry news of the events to far-away points. Additional seats have increased the hall's capacity to about 14,000.

Visitors to the convention will spend $103,000 daily, according to a survey by leading hotels here.

Special trains of delegates will begin to arrive early Saturday. The first train, carrying cars from California, Oregon and Idaho, is due that morning and will be closely followed by the Indiana delegation.

Other "specials" scheduled to steam into Kansas City over the week-end include those carrying Georgia and Massachusetts delegations, Mayor Thompson and his party from Chicago and a car from Mendota, Ill., carrying Frank O. Lowden and his associates.

The reception room of the Lowden headquarters is a veritable presidential gallery. Largest among the collection is a lithograph of the former Illinois Governor, almost balanced in size by one of the opposite wall of President Coolidge. Washington is represented along with Lincoln and Roosevelt.

The opinion that New Jersey will cast its solid vote of thirty-one delegates for Herbert Hoover was expressed in a statement issued by Franklin W. Fort of East Orange, representative in congress and a member of the credentials committee for New Jersey. Only Hoover would be sure of carrying his state over, Alfred E. Smith of New York, should Smith receive the democratic nomination, Fort declared.

Water Company Is Improving Property

The Dixon Water company are making extensive improvements on their property on Dement avenue eliminating a bed of weeds which has been the source of some censorship, and materially beautifying the grounds. Two large flower beds have been planted and flowering shrubs are to be placed on the terraces forming the base of the big steel pressure tank.

A small fire proof building is under construction facing Dement avenue, which is to house automatic electrically operated machinery for the tank. The structure is being built of Duntle blocks. A new steel decorative fence has been built around the property materially improving the appearance of the lots and converting into a beauty spot, a place which formerly has been the cause of some complaint. A similar program of improvement is outlined for the second storage pressure reservoir on Peoria avenue.

LEGISLATURE PASSED GAS REFUND BILL

Adjourns With Thumbs Down on Third Special Session

Springfield, Ill., June 6—(AP)—Passing the gas tax refund bill and turning thumbs down on a proposition for a third special session, the Illinois General Assembly adjourned sine die at 10:50 o'clock today.

The gas tax refund bill, apportioning among Illinois' 102 counties the $6,390,000 collected under the unconstitutional gas tax law was passed in the House without difficulty. It had previously been approved by the Senate. The Senate then concurred in House amendments and the bill was sent to the governor. Pending his signature, the bill becomes a law on July 1.

Miss Margaret Haley, representing the Chicago Teachers Federation, presented the plea for a special session immediately following this one, to give Cook county tax board authority to order a reassessment of property in Cook. On a roll call, 67 members of the House voted in its favor, four voted no, and 10 present, the remainder present failed to vote.

After adjournment, Miss Haley said she believed she could get the additional ten members—enough to make a constitutional majority—in the next few days. She then plans to present her case to the governor, with the seven members of the board. The governor has said he would call a third special session if the members of the legislature wanted it.

Only one subject would be taken up at the session, she said, in a five minute talk before the House, that of permitting the Cook county officers to go ahead with a re-assessment of real property in accordance with the original order of the state tax commission.

"If we don't get this relief," she said, "we can't straighten out our crooked assessors. Chicago is sick and tired of the frightful tax conditions; tax fixing is destroying our moral fibre."

"All we want is a clean start. You talk about cleaning up crime in Cook county. What crime could be greater than that of taking $13,000,000 in taxes from one group of people and putting it in the pockets of another?"

Miss Haley charged "frightful" under assessments of real estate in the loop, business district of Chicago. The order for the reassessment by the state tax commission, she said, was the result of hard work by the teachers and other civic organizations; and then the Attorney General, by declaring the reassessment order of no force, "threw a monkey wrench in the machinery." She further asserted that the law under which the tax commission had issued the order had been approved by the Attorney General.

Observers of the legislature today were trying to determine just when the legislature would meet in the event that Miss Haley carries out her plan of getting ten more votes. At best, only one week is available, between the two national conventions. This would mean the bill would have to be passed in six days, which is a most unprecedented. Unless the bill is passed before July 1, it will not become effective until July 1, 1929; and could as well be passed at the next regular legislative session.

Laws passed by the second extraordinary session of the General Assembly will cost the taxpayers of the state in excess of $30,000.

Two weeks ago, when sine die adjournment was in sight but unexpectedly discarded, leaders of the senate and house prepared, for the information of the voters, a summary of expenditures.

This summary was deemed necessary because of a misapprehension voters might have of the appropriation bills for payment of the expenses of the special session. These totaled $126,000. It was explained that they were drawn up in anticipation of a longer session, and that at that time a very small portion of the total had been used. Only so much of the appropriation as was necessary for actual expenses would be taken from the state treasury, it was said.

The total was slightly more than $18,000. It included mileage for all members; an additional $50 provided by the constitution for miscellaneous expenses for each member; salaries of officers of the house and senate; and payment of wages of employees.

Increased Expenses—Unexpectedly extended their session two weeks, they also extended their expenses. Payment for employees goes on each day in the week whether the assembly is in Springfield or elsewhere. It has been estimated, on the basis of the figures submitted by leaders in the two houses, that running expenses are nearly $450 a day.

LOWDEN AND HIS FAMILY LEAVING OREGON FOR K. C.

Will Arrive in Convention City on Saturday

Chicago, June 6—(AP)—Frank O. Lowden, candidate for the republican presidential nomination, will reach Kansas City, the convention center, June 9.

The last of his campaign headquarters staff here will leave for Kansas City tonight. Clarence Buck, manager of the campaign, has been in the Missouri city several days.

Lowden, with Mrs. Lowden and their daughter, Florence, and several members of the Mississippi establishment, will leave from Oregon, or some other railroad point near the farm.

Otis F. Glenn, of Murphysboro, United States senatorial candidate, who is to place the former Illinois Governor in nomination, will stop at Excelsior Springs en route to Kansas City. There he will complete his nomination speech. He expects to leave Chicago tomorrow night.

Thompson Crowd in Body

Delegates identified with Mayor William Hale Thompson, who are opposed to Lowden, and favor drafting President Coolidge, will travel to the convention in a body, leaving Chicago Saturday night. Others of the delegation will travel in small groups or individually. The Illinois delegates will caucus the night of June 11, only a few hours before the convention opens on June 12.

ROCKEFELLER, JR., THINKS COLLEGES SPOIL MANY LIVES

Says Many Boys And Girls Would Be Better Off at Home

Nashville, Tenn., June 6—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., expressed the opinion in a commencement address at Fisk University today that large numbers of boys and girls who rush off to the colleges would in all probability make more of their lives if they went into some useful occupation in their home towns.

"For after all," he said, "just spending so many years in school or colleges does not necessarily mean one has gotten an education. On the contrary, during that period one may simply have formed habits of indolence, acquired an unwarranted sense of superiority, or become dissatisfied with the circumstances and environment in which one's lot is cast and in which one is fitted by natural endowment to live."

Mr. Rockefeller gave the following list of what he considered not to the purpose of education: To cram the mind with dates, facts and figures; to make shrewd lawyers whose chief aim is to make money; to turn out doctors who reckon their success in dollars; to train teachers who think of their profession simply as a way of making a living; to fit men for a business life that is sharp, slick, shady; to make artisans and agriculturists whose interest centers in even shorter hours; maximum pay, minimum output.

Pullman Porters Threaten Walkout

Chicago, June 6—(AP)—A Philip Randolph, general organizer for the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, said today that the organization had notified the United States mediation board that its members will withdraw from service of the Pullman company unless the company agrees to confer with representatives of the brotherhood.

Randolph said the date for withdrawal had been fixed at June 8, noon, Central Standard time.

Instructions have been sent to organizers in all districts and Randolph said a complete walk-out is anticipated in event the mediation board fails to bring employer and employees together. The organization seeks higher wages for the porters.

Levine, the latter announced this afternoon. The pilots will be Oliver Le Boutillier, formerly of the British Army, and Captain Arthur Argolis of Minnesota.

James H. Howell of the Howell ready-to-wear department, have Page Co. and Mrs. Bess Pinney returned from a business trip to Chicago.

COUNCIL DENIES "INVITATION" TO THE BUS COMPANY

Commissioner Loftus Offers Resolution to Rent Offices

Commissioner John Loftus of the department of streets demanded a show down at last evening's regular session of the city council, to decide who was to blame for the removal of the central station of the Greyhound Bus company from Dixon to Sterling. In order to officially present the matter to the council, Commissioner Loftus presented a resolution asking that a section of the city building now occupied by the Chamber of Commerce at the south approach to the Galena avenue bridge be set aside for the use of the Greyhound Bus company as a waiting room and ticket office at a monthly rental of $35.

He then declared to the council that the recent action which has resulted in the removal of the central station to Sterling, has meant the loss of much business to Dixon as well as the removal of a number of families from the city.

Demand a "Show Down"

"The members of this council have been and are being censured for ordering the bus line company out of the building. Personally, it is my opinion that this was nothing but a case of spite work, and I demand a vote upon this resolution in order that the public may place the blame where it belongs. I think it was a wrong move to order the company out of the building and eventually out of the city and by the passage of this resolution, hope to be able to invite the business back to Dixon. I do not know that they will come, but it will do no harm to invite them."

To this, Mayor Palmer replied that it had never been his policy to vote to override the head of any of the city departments.

Schumm Defends Action

Commissioner Louis Schumm under whose department the rest room building is a part, defended his action in removing the bus company's office and waiting room from the city-owned building and added that the company had no lease to occupy the building.

"Neither has the Chamber of Commerce," replied Commissioner Loftus, "and why don't you throw them out too?"

This brought on another discussion as to the subject of the lease and when the files were examined it developed that the Chamber of Commerce lease expired in April 1927. Commissioner Loftus continued to urge a vote upon his resolution which Mayor Palmer opposed. Mayor Palmer and Commissioners Schumm and Campbell voted against the resolution, Commissioners Loftus and Miller favoring the action embodied in the motion, which resulted in its being defeated.

Chang Tso-Lin, Bomb Victim, Still Alive

Tokyo, June 6—(AP)—Although official confirmation is still lacking, latest reports received in Tokyo, including dispatches to the Japanese News Service Rengo, indicate that Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, former Peiking dictator, is dead.

A Mukden dispatch to Rengo states that Japanese advisers, who yesterday flatly denied the death of the Manchurian war lord, are now disinclined to give a flat denial.

Moreover tending to confirm the belief that Chang has died of his injuries suffered in Monday's bomb explosion, it was stated that no one is entering Chang's room nor is allowed to leave it. In addition urgent messages have been sent to Chang's sons and others of his family.

AUSTRALIAN FLIERS HOP TOMORROW

Southern Cross Leaves Fiji Islands Thursday P. M.

Suva, Fiji, June 6—(AP)—The Southern Cross will hop off at 3:00 p. m. tomorrow from the beach at Nasalei, 16 miles from here on its 1,750-mile flight to Brisbane, Australia, flight commander, Charles Kingsford-Smith announced late tonight.

This would be 7 o'clock Wednesday night, Pacific Coast time.

Tells Perils of Trip. Um addressed a large gathering of Fiji officials and citizens tonight at the civic reception and banquet, and described a phase of the flight that was fraught with many perils.

"I am telling you on behalf of myself and 'Smithy' that we would have been very old men but for the aid of our two American friends, Harry Lyon, navigator, and James Warren radio operators. "Imagine the roar of the plane's 660-horse power motors, the plane's small cabin defeated with the roar of the motors, trying to send and receive radio messages one hundred per cent efficient, 4,000 to 5,000 miles away.

"Jim Warner possessed no mean skill and was full of courage in getting back to the old sea dog again. (Warner was a former steamship radio operator).

"Night before last in the middle of the Pacific, the fates were not with us.

Had a Rough Night.

"We struck bad weather. Our job was intricate. The direction was taken from the hands of the navigator. The wild flying was getting to the stage where one might just go mad. Smith was doing skilful flying, dodging storm clouds, turning right angles when flying 100 miles an hour.

"The navigator's skill, resource, and initiative were shown when, after all these quick movements throughout the night, that he could plot out our position and when we came out of the mess, to say: 'Here, boys, here's where you are.'

"That we came through was not luck. Get the right men and equipment, coordinate them and you will get through."

In opening his speech, Um said the "difference between an aviator and a pilot was that a pilot could talk but not fly, and an aviator can fly but not talk."

Four passengers were taken to the depot emergency hospital, where they were treated for cuts and bruises.

Those treated in the emergency hospital for cuts and bruises were: Miss Mildred Ahlberg, 22, Lemont; Miss Mary Dehm, 18, Rockford; Miss Anna Schmidt, 43, Lemont; Miss Celia Schmidt, sister of Anna, Lemont.

Detroit Newspaper Raided By Bandits

The payroll amounted to approximately $65,000 but the robbers dropped some of the money in escaping. The amount obtainable was not determined pending a check up.

For 200 feet the air machine, constructed by Captain George White of New York, flew above the car, its wings flapping in ponderous manner.

C. C. Gary of Milwaukee, Wis., was in Dixon on business today.

TO PRESENT RESOLUTION NEXT WEEK

Unanimous Action by Council Asks Early Action

The city council at its regular session last evening launched the initial steps required for the construction of the proposed new street wide concrete bridge across Rock river at Peoria avenue. A petition was passed by a unanimous vote in which the board of supervisors are requested to take early action and extend county aid toward the building of such a structure. It will be presented to the supervisors at their regular June meeting which convenes next Monday morning. The petition also requests that the superintendent of county highways be instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the proposed structure. The action of the county board is necessary before the final plans can be returned to the War department office at Rock Island for final inspection after which the matter will be placed before the voters of the city.

Blue prints and drawings prepared by G. F. Burch of Springfield, of the state department of bridges and buildings, call for a structure of the girder type resting on eight concrete piers. This style of construction has been given preference over the arch type of supports. The estimated cost, according to the engineer's figures for the completed structure, will be approximately $210,000.

This provides for a reinforced concrete bridge with a 40-foot roadway and six-foot walks on each side as well as an adequate decorative lighting system.

LEGISLATURE

PASSED GAS

REFUND BILL

So the original estimate of $18,000 was more than doubled with the exception:

of the one item of $50 which was not increased.

To offset this expenditure, the legislature has failed to pass laws dealing with the major subjects in the call; passed three bills dealing with minor subjects in the governor's message; and as its closing act today was to finally approve the gasoline tax refunding bill.

Called to enact enabling legislation for the settlement of Chicago's long standing traction problems, the legislature never seriously considered bills introduced to correct the situation.

The second major item in the call was the optional authority extended the legislators by Governor Small to offer "home rule" to all Illinois cities downstate. This subject was scarcely mentioned during the four legislative weeks.

The third major subject in the call dealt with the apportionment of more than $5,000,000 collected under an illegal gasoline tax. This subject was

OPENING INCOME RETURNS

Senatorial disposition to poke into everybody's private business and personal affairs to obtain morsels for more gossip does not like to be curbed. It wants to see everybody's income tax return. It is not enough that the returns are open to the department charged with collecting the tax and plentifully equipped to follow any and every evidence of fraud. Senators want all the back fence gossip that is going.

The principal objection to opening to the public the personal income tax return is that it is a breach of faith with the people. It was tentatively understood that if the constitution were so amended that taxation of incomes were made possible, such returns would be open only to the government agencies making the collections. Such provision was in the law that was declared unconstitutional, and it was anticipated that if a constitutional amendment were adopted, future action would be in accordance with that rule.

BUILD A SWIMMING POOL.

Dixon people are becoming more and more awake to the fact that a swimming pool would be a valuable addition to the many attractive features of this growing and enterprising city and The Telegraph believes that the early future will see something of this nature built here. There is already a movement on foot for the financing of the project.

A modern pool of adequate dimensions would not be prohibitive in cost, but its benefits would be manifold. A splendid location for the pool is available. The cost of maintenance would be negligible. It would be dedicated to public use for all time.

Many cities in this immediate vicinity, numbers of them smaller than Dixon, have such pools. Dixon can afford one. Dixon cannot afford not to be progressive.

OUR CHANGING EXPORTS.

The change that has come over the United States in the last half century is graphically illustrated by a chart prepared by the Central National Bank of Cleveland, O. This chart analyzes United States export commodities on the basis of statistics from the Department of Commerce.

In the old days America's great exports were raw materials. Europe sent ships here for things like grain, cotton, lumber and coal. Now, however, 41 per cent of our exports are finished manufactured articles. Crude materials and foodstuffs have fallen to around 33 per cent.

That indicates the change. No longer does Europe send us finished products and take our raw materials in exchange. Instead she buys cloth. The most significant part of our national history in the last half century is bound up in that commercial shift.

DOG DAYS IN THE LABORATORY.

These are dog days in the laboratory of the state department of public health, which has announced that more than 80 percent of about a thousand heads of dogs examined have been infected with rabies. Three or more infected heads have been sent from twenty counties of the state and the whole state is said by the department to be within the epidemic area.

One thing about a jury—it's about the only proof we have left that there still is sympathy and admiration for the truly beautiful things of life.

Democratic and Republican legislators met in a ball game in Washington the other day. Just something more for Senator Walsh to investigate.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNUCK

The donkey galloped down the shore. The Tynmites wondered what for. And then it stopped just opposite to where their houseboat stood. The donkey man yelled, "If you're stuck out in that boat, you're now in luck. I have a plan that I am sure will do you lots of good."

He waved a rope and said, "See this? Well, if my hopes don't go amiss, your boat will soon be moving. I'm going to tow you all. I'll toss the rope from where I stand. Please try and catch it in your hand. But, when you're trying to catch it, just be careful and don't fall."

"All right," yelled Scouty, "let it fly. To catch it we will gladly try." The rope came flying through the air. It was a long, long line. Then, as it dropped, someone reached out and grabbed it, with a merry shout. The donkey man looked very pleased, and shouted, "That was fine!"

"Now fasten it upon your ship and I will give you quite a trip. Be sure it's good and tight so it can't possibly come loose." "Oh, let me tie it," Scouty cried. "A nice big hook is on the side of our small boat. I'll tie it well. I know a Boy Scout noose."

He worked away, and then at last, he had the long rope fastened fast. "That won't come off," he shouted. "It's as tight as it can be." The man soon saw the rope was caught. He tried it out, and pulled it taut. "All right, we're ready," he exclaimed. "Some fancy work you'll see."

With one end of the rope in hand, he stood there on the nearby land and tied it to the donkey. Then upon the donkey's back he quickly hopped and moved along. The little donkey seemed real strong. It pulled the Tynites boat, and ambled down a winding track.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dearest Mom:

There have been times when I did not share your interest in cousins, far and near. Rather, I waited for the family tree have shown up from time to time, that made me glad that we did not hold to the oriental idea of close family life.

But Cousin Julia is a cousin I okayed at sight. We figured out we are fourth cousins, really, but that is all right. And if you think Julia has faded, you ought to see her. She seems to have blossomed out with the years, and to have developed a personality that makes years quite inconsequential.

And when I remembered you spoke of her as an old maid, I really had to laugh. And I should say her chances of making a brilliant marriage—if she wants to—are still excellent, because she seems surrounded with attention.

You should hear Alan on the subject of Cousin Julia—he becomes quite poetic.

It seems Julia is in no hurry about getting married. She says she enjoys life as she is now—and she knows she would make a most unsatisfactory sort of a wife, owing to a disinclination to stay "put."

She is on her way now to Europe, and is going to spend the early summer in Cornwall. Later she has planned some sort of a trip in the Austrian Tyrol. Then she is going to the Majorca Islands where she has a little house, and picks up the most adorable Spanish furniture and jewelry, which she handles for an exclusive antique shop in New York City.

Her life sounds like a travelogue without the lantern slides. And

Only these cars are powered with 90-degree, V-type, 8-cylinder engines

It is true that Cadillac and La Salle lead the way in car design, color harmonies, and luxurious furnishings. But it is the engine that makes the car go—and is, after all, the "inside reason" for Cadillac and La Salle dominance in the fine car field. Only these two cars year in and year out unfailingly deliver the smooth, surging, velvety power that comes from the 90-degree, V-type, 8-cylinder engine which Cadillac builds.

you've never seen such an enthusiastic person in your life.

As for her clothes, most of which are made for her right on the Rue de la Paix, I must say they are the best argument I have seen so far for moving to Paris.

I spent a day with her, and Alan and I are going to a little dinner party she is giving next week—she seems to know practically everyone worth while in town.

So far I have not broken the news to Alan, but I am going to buy a new evening gown for the occasion. Family honor at stake, you know. And anyhow, I want one, though the charge accounts this month have really been worked overtime, I fear.

Don't tell Florence, but her artist flame, far from bemoaning her absence, is actually captivated by a Russian actress, who treats him just a little less casually than he has been in the habit of treating his lady friends—and for once he is walking chaff. I doubt if he would remember Florence's name now.

I hope some day I can high-hat the world. I'm sort of tired of taking other people's dust.

Sometimes I wish I had not married so young—that I had had a career. Don't you?

RANK OUTSIDER AT 33 TO 1 CAPTURES THE ENGLISH DERBY

Felstead Fools Them As Did His Sire, Spion Kop In Historic Classic

Epsom, England, June 6.—(AP)—Duplicating the victory of his sire, Spion Kop, Felstead, a rank outsider, at 33 to 1, captured the historic English derby at Epsom Downs today leading in a field of nineteen horses over the famous mile and a half course.

Felstead, quoted at 9 to 2, was second, a length and a half behind the winner, while Black Watch, quoted at 33 to 1, was third, six lengths behind Felstead.

It was the 148th running of the great English classic and the usual great crowd of English racing enthusiasts was on hand at the course. Some of the spectators had waited 24 hours for favorable positions.

Felstead, a bay colt by Spion Kop, out of Felington, is owned by Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen.

Was 148th Running
Today's derby was the 148th running of the great classic of the English race course and huge crowds thronged the course, some of the thousands that eagerly watched the horses thundering down the stretch had spent twenty-four hours camped out in Gypsy fashion while virtually everyone had a bet, small or large, on the race.

Last year when Call Boy, owned by Frank Curzon, swept to victory in the record making time of 2 minutes, 24.5 seconds, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was present as the guest of Lord Londale.

But to the half million or so who annually flock to Epsom Downs, the race is the greatest sporting event of the year and at least 3,000,000 pounds sterling, or about $15,000,000, will change hands in the largest of the British sweeps, was worth more than $1,000,000 for the winning ticket.

A Million Spectators
Felstead's victory was before a record crowd of nearly one million spectators who massed historic Epsom Downs and it was estimated that an equivalent of at least $15,000,000 were wagered on the race, including the great Calcutta sweepstakes.

New Type Business Found in Illinois

Urbana, Ill., June 6.—(AP)—New types of business and greater prosperity for the larger town merchant are rapidly developing in Illinois through the vast network of hard roads. Prof. Paul D. Converse of the University of Illinois, has discovered in a survey of Illinois villages.

Concentrating their task on towns under 1,700 population Prof. Converse and several assistants attempted to discover what change was taking place in the small town today.

"New types of business have sprung up in practically every village and town throughout the state, wherever the hard roads have touched them," he said. "These businesses are largely of the service station type, dealing in personal services to the customer. Included in the group are filling stations, tire shops, garages and similar businesses.

"In the older forms of business, one of the reasons that there is an appreciable loss of trade is that there is too much duplication of stocks and none of them complete. If a purchaser is looking for some specific article of a certain definite type, the chances are that he may have to go to a number of different stores before he can find that article.

"Often he is forced to go to another town. This, of course, results in loss to the merchants of the village, which was first visited, and a loss to the merchants who did not have the article. Further, the visitor is likely to buy other articles while away in the neighboring town.

"Continued repetition of their experience causes the purchaser first to try to find the article in the larger village or town and to pass up his home trading center all together. This brings new business to the larger centers. The purchaser, as a rule, travels by automobile, and he must secure supplies for his car wherever and whenever he needs them. This condition causes the service type of business to thrive and the small village merchant to lose money."

OBITUARY

JAMES H. STEWART

Our departed friend and brother, James H. Stewart, was born at Balston, Spa, Saratoga County, New York State on the 26th of April, 1843, and departed this life on Friday, May 25, at the age of 85 years and 1 month.

His parents were James Stewart of Scotland and Jane Lowry of Ireland. After being married for some time, they came to the United States in 1835. There were nine children born to their marriage of whom Mr. Stewart is the last, all the others having predeceased him.

His parents came west to Rock Falls, Illinois in November 1854 and were on a farm west of there for many years.

Mr. Stewart enlisted in 8th Illinois Cavalry early in 1864 and was in service with them until July, 1865, when they were discharged. He served in the Tennessee campaign under Thomas and Rosecrans being present at the battles of Franklin and Stone ridge.

After the war, he retired to Rock Falls and in the 27th of October, 1875, he was married to Helen B. Fry at Sterling. They moved to Dixon in November, 1881, where they have resided ever since. He was a member of the Baptist church.

Our deceased brother was a loving husband, a kind neighbor, a much respected friend and an earnest Christian. He will be much missed in the community where he has lived for so many years.

Westerners in Meet

Chicago, June 6.—(AP)—Thirty three athletes will carry the colors of six Pacific Coast schools into the national collegiate track and field championship battle on Soldier Field Friday and Saturday.

Leading the westerners against 300 other competitors, representing 73 schools, will be Coach Dick Templeton's 13 all stars from Stanford university, conquerors of the west's best in dual competition and winner of the eastern intercollegiate. The second largest western contingent will represent the University of Washington, Pacific coast winners in the absence of Stanford.

Much interest centers in the two mile event where Dave Abbott of the University of Illinois matches strides with Cleaver of the University of Idaho. Abbott has turned in the best time of the two, 9:23.7 but Cleaver has never been defeated.

HEALTH DIET ADVICE

Dr. Frank McCoy
The Best Way to Health

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist, will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Dixon Evening Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

A LESSON ON THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Most of the absorption of this digested food material takes place in the small intestines. After absorption the blood carries the food all through the body, and each cell takes from the blood that food which it requires.

The small intestine is lined with little finger-like projections which contain blood vessels. They stand up into the digestive food fluid and absorb it. So abundant are these villi that they give the inner surface of the intestinal wall a velvet-like appearance. They absorb food much more rapidly than a smooth wall could do, since they have from four to eight times as much absorbing surface.

The whole digestive tract is about thirty-two feet long and that it can be contained in so small a cavity is a wonderful illustration of the adaptive powers of nature. Doctors are coming to realize that most of the diseases of the body originate from poisons in this tract that we have just studied. I hope that you will resolve to study so much about dietetics that you will avoid those diseases which are caused in this manner.

I have articles on "The Proper Food Combinations," "Exercises to Develop the Abdominal Muscles," and "How to Take An Enema." If you will send me a self-addressed envelope with four cents for return postage, I will be very glad to mail any of the articles you desire.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—G. K. asks: "Will you please tell me how to rid my eyeballs of a yellow color? Have tried a fruit fast for three days and felt very bilious and depressed. I am bothered also with a gaseous stomach and am very much underweight."

Answer—A three-day fast is just enough to stir you up and make you feel more bilious and depressed. Keep up a fruit fast for at least ten days if you want to get rid of the jaundice which is causing your eyeballs to become yellow. The tendency to a gaseous stomach will disappear after such a fast if you will afterwards use the proper foods in correct combinations.

Question—I. M. writes: "I have been on an orange juice fast for two weeks for anemia. What diet should follow?"

Answer—Follow the general plan of the weekly menus which I prepare you every Saturday. No special food is required—just the same kinds of wholesome food which everyone should use. The fasting will get rid of the poisons which are the cause of the anemia, and your blood will then build up on a sensible, well balanced diet.

Question—Mrs. A. J. B. writes: "I have to clear my throat real often, although I do not bring up any phlegm. It doesn't seem to be a habit. Could you tell me what causes this?"

Answer—Such symptoms are often forerunners of tuberculosis or bronchitis. Any irritation in the lungs may create the desire to cough, even when there is nothing to cough up. If the cause of the irritation is not removed, there may finally develop enough degeneration so that phlegm and pus will gather in quantities large enough to be coughed up. Every tickling cough without phlegm should be carefully considered and the cause removed.

CARLSTROM HOLDS POOL CONTRACT IS ILLEGALLY DRAWN

Advises Auditor Not to Issue Warrants for Work Done

Springfield, Ill., May 6—(AP)—Holding the contract illegally entered into, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has advised the State Auditor to issue no state warrants on vouchers for work done on the Brandon Road Pool of the Illinois Waterway until the courts have passed upon the legality of the contract.

The contract was between the state department of purchases and constructions and a contracting firm, Green and Sons Company, by which the company furnished the labor and supervision of the construction of the retaining wall, lock and dam, and was paid on a "cost plus" basis. By this arrangement, the state furnished all materials and paid all salaries; while the company received 10 per cent of the fee costs. If the fee cost fell below $4,100,000, the company's payments would proportionately rise. The contract was attacked, in a case now pending in Cook county, and when Green and Sons vouchers were presented the question of the contract's legality it was brought to the attention of the state auditor who referred the matter to the attorney general.

Examining the statutes, the attorney general found that by one of two ways the waterway could be constructed: by contract to the lowest responsible bidder; or by direct employment by the state of services, labor, material and equipment.

"In this case," said the Attorney General, "it is evidently the intention of the state to construct the Brandon Road Pool on its own account, and yet, under the contract to Green and Sons Company, the state is attempting to turn over to an independent contractor the job of supervising and directing the construction of an 10 per cent cost plus basis, in the same way as if the contract had been let to the company as an independent contract. This, in my opinion, is a violation of the law."

"I am of the opinion that the act conferring on the departments power to employ services for superintending contemplated the direct employment by the state on a definite salary basis, such employment to be subject to termination by the employer without further obligation."

The vouchers submitted to the state auditor included, besides the 10 per cent for Green and Sons Company, vouchers for materials, labor and miscellaneous items. The Attorney General advised that these be returned to the state department of purchases and constructions and vouchers made for items exclusive of the 10 per cent, which he said may be justifiably paid since they are for labor and materials.

"I am further of the opinion," the Attorney General concluded, "that you should not audit or approve for payment any voucher for compensation to Green and Sons Company on the 10 per cent cost plus basis unless the legality of the contract is upheld by the Supreme Court."

OUR TREES

COTTONWOOD
Because it is often the only tree within miles and because it serves a wide variety of purposes the cottonwood is highly prized by the settlers of the great plains region.

In the almost treeless sections between the Mississippi river and the Rocky mountains the cottonwood often is the only local wood available. It is frequently planted as a wind break and supplies lumber, fuel and friendly shade for farm homes. The cottonwood, being a rapidly growing tree reaching a height of 100 feet and over and a diameter of from two to five feet, is particularly adapted to planting in this region.

The name cottonwood is applied to eight or ten closely related species that grow in the United States of which eastern, swamp and black cottonwoods are the most important. Eastern cottonwood is widely distributed throughout the country east of the Rocky mountains. Swamp cottonwood grows in the southeast and black cottonwood in the northwest.

Lumber cut from these three varieties is used principally for boxes and crates. Its light weight and ability to take nails without splitting, combined with good color for stenciling and lack of odor, make it suitable for a wide variety of boxes, and over one-half of the cut of cottonwood is used for this purpose.

Cottonwood veneer in the form of plywood is widely used in furniture and musical instruments and for similar uses where plywood panels are required. Other uses include vehicles, planing mill products, agricultural implements, wooden-ware and trunks. Cottonwood also is used for the manufacture of high-grade book paper and excelsior.

DUNLOP'S $195,000,000

"WHAT OF IT?... Dunlop's resources may be $195,000,000. Does that put any money in my pocket?"

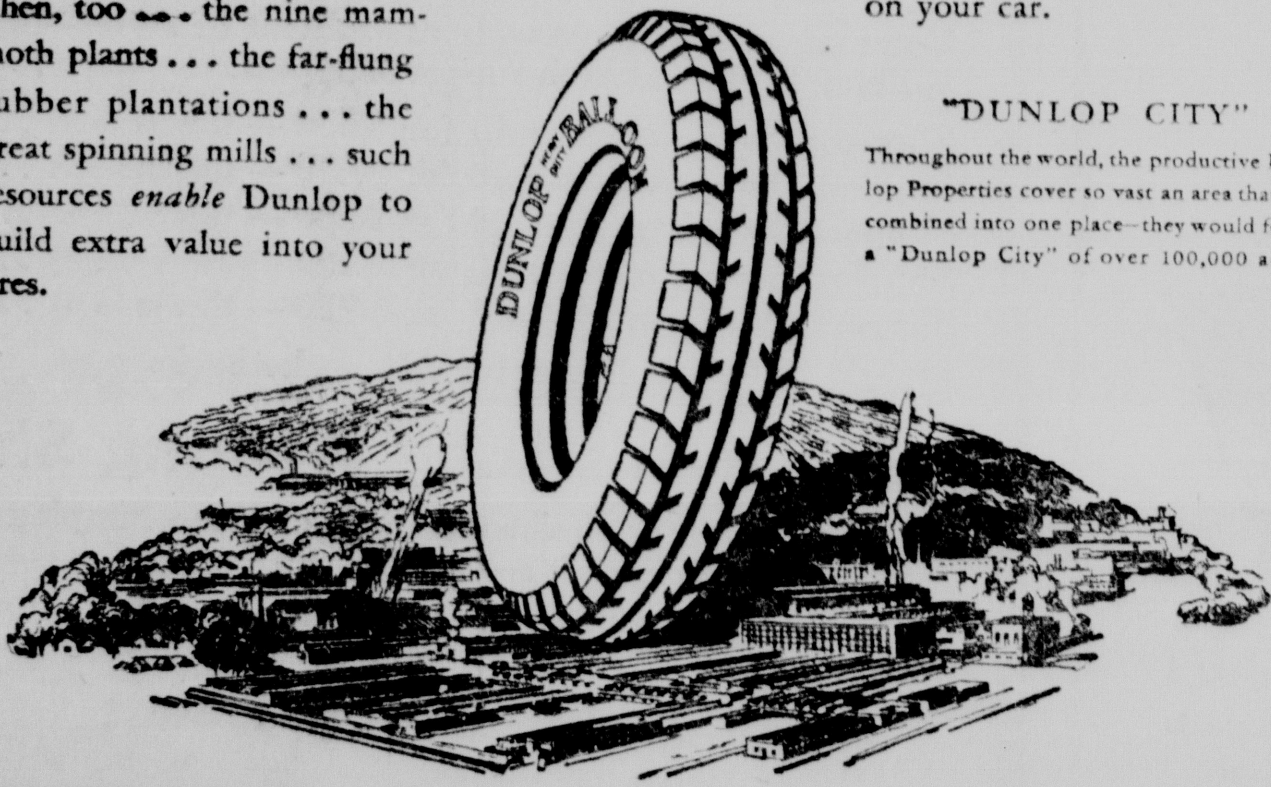

Yes... In this way... Dunlop's investment is so great, it must be safeguarded. The only sure protection is to give you greater value than you can buy in any other tires.

Then, too... the nine mammoth plants... the far-flung rubber plantations... the great spinning mills... such resources enable Dunlop to build extra value into your tires.

The 40 years of experience helps too. But the biggest meaning to you of Dunlop's $195,000,000 is this: Dunlop could never have grown so great, if Dunlop tires had not only won, but held a vast army of users. 26 million Dunlop tires are now running. That bare fact is eloquent proof that you will profit by putting Dunlops on your car.

You Can Depend on Iso-Vis Every Time!

Motorists who use Iso-Vis wonder how they ever got along with ordinary motor oils!

Iso-Vis was a long time coming. For years engineers talked of the dilution problem and thought there was no way to solve it. For years people got along as best they could with motor oils that failed to do the job.

A motor oil has a hard job! It has to be light to make starting easy. Yet it must be heavy to hold up under operating conditions!

An ordinary motor oil light enough for easy starting soon thins out and falls down on the job. But if it's heavy enough to give proper lubrication under working conditions it's too heavy for easy starting!

In the past the only answer was a compromise—a medium oil that gave neither satisfactory starting nor satisfactory lubrication under operating conditions.

Today satisfactory lubrication is a recognized fact. After years of work and thousands of experiments the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) succeeded in combining a carefully refined diluent with a heavier oil to make the constant viscosity motor oil—Iso-Vis!

Iso-Vis gives satisfactory lubrication all the time. It has the right body to make starting easy. It keeps smooth!

You can depend on Iso-Vis to be on the job when you start—when you stop—and all the miles you're on the way! Ask for Iso-Vis and try it yourself today! Iso-Vis "p" for Ford's Model T.

The Sunday Night Supper

By CAROLINE B. KING
Culinary Expert and Lecturer on Domestic Science

Set forth on colorful linens and china in a cool corner, the Sunday evening repast in warmer weather becomes one of the happiest occasions of the week. And with just a little thoughtful planning the supper may be both delightfully inviting and nutritious.

Cheese lends itself most satisfactorily to meals of this type. It is, like the milk from which it is made, a perfect warm-weather food, besides possessing a certain piquant flavor which is very appetizing. Cold meats, fresh vegetables, hard cooked eggs, pickles, olives, crackers and fresh fruits all combine delightfully with Switzerland cheese. Hors d'Oeuvres a la Suisse are delightful little appetizers. Arrange four thin inch-wide strips of Switzerland cheese on small serving plates radiating them from the center. Spread each strip of cheese lightly with mustard. On one strip arrange a little hard cooked egg white finely chopped and mixed with French dressing. On the second the egg yolks also chopped and mixed with the dressing. On the third a little chopped stuffed olive and on the fourth just a suspicion of grated onion. Garnish the plates with water cress.

Switzerland Cheese in Aspic: This is a very handsome dish. To be quite perfect it should be made the day before it is to be served. Make a quart of tart lemon jelly, adding a teaspoonful of tarragon vinegar and a generous sprinkle of paprika. Cool almost to the congealing point, then arrange a layer in a mold and chill. When stiff place a layer of sliced pickled beets, a few cooked peas, and sections of hard cooked eggs on the jelly. Cover with a layer of jelly and chill. Cover the second layer of jelly with thin slices of ham and Switzerland cheese and repeat these layers until the mold is full. Chill thoroughly, turn out on lettuce leaves and garnish with ripe olives.

Tomato Platter: Scald ripe, firm tomatoes, dip in cold water and peel. Chill and slice. Cover a platter with crisp lettuce leaves, and arrange the tomato slices alternately with thin slices of Switzerland cheese. Garnish with stuffed olives and cucumber rings. Serve with a sharp French dressing and rye bread and Switzerland cheese sandwiches.

Impromptu Platter: On a platter bordered with lettuce leaves arrange in inviting manner well drained sardines, hard cooked eggs in quarters, thin slices of Switzerland cheese and garnish with small pickles and radishes.

Geneva Salad: Dice Switzerland cheese and mix with an equal quantity of cold boiled potatoes, moisten with French dressing or mayonnaise and pile on lettuce leaves. Serve garnished with bologna sausage cut in thin slices.

Condemned Murderer Marries

There'll be no honeymoon for Gordon Denmark, who married Mrs. Etha Collier, 26, in the death cell at the county jail, Jacksonville, Fla. Denmark, 22, has been sentenced to be electrocuted for the murder of a grocer two years ago. He is shown above just after the ceremony with his mother, Mrs. Etha Denmark, left, and his bride.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes used to say that the way to bring up a child properly was to begin with the grandparents.

We cannot begin with the grandparents very well, but we can begin with the parents. We can at least give the expectant mother counsel and care. Prenatal care is one of the most necessary duties we owe to the expected baby, yet it is one of the most neglected. If every expectant mother would go to her family physician early for a thorough examination she would not only save herself a great deal of possible trouble but she would give the baby the best

THIS HAS HAPPENED

VIRGINIA BREWSTER, after losing both father and wealth, consents to make her home with CLARISSA DEAN and her father. Her fiancé, NATHANIEL DEAN, objects to this for he mistrusts DEAN'S motives. DEAN plots to get NIEL away from VIRGINIA but fails and later is forced to pay blackmail to a MRS. FARLEY or face a scandal. CLARISSA becomes jealous of NIEL and the latter resolves to leave, but DEAN insists that she marry him, saying that she cannot endure poverty. When she refuses, he threatens to reveal the fact that her father cheated him out of $10,000 in a bootlegging deal. Reluctantly, she promises to earn enough to marry him in one year.

VIRGINIA leaves, but has to pawn a ring to tide over until she can find a position. She goes to NIEL's studio to tell him of her break with the DEANS, but her fear of seeing him is clouded because she does not reveal her complete faith in NIEL.

For NIEL, VIRGINIA seeks a broker friend how to earn her hundred thousand. Then she asks his advice how to find a business position, and is directed to an agency where she is given the name of a "steady job" to interview. She decides that the position is impossible and returns to the agency.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

WHEN Virginia entered Mrs. Phelps' office a few moments later her cheeks were pink with excitement and fresh air.

"You look as if something had happened," Mrs. Phelps remarked cheerfully. "Everything was satisfactory, I hope."

Virginia laughed. "I never saw such a place in my life," she exclaimed fervently. "A butler with a mustache, and his name is Pietro."

Mrs. Phelps was incredulous. "Dear me, no?"

"In a red velvet uniform," Virginia replied.

"Well, I must say you surprised me," the other said; "but of course I did expect that the Gernsner menage would be a bit out of the ordinary."

"It's utterly fantastic," Virginia told her. "Mrs. Gernsner hasn't the slightest idea how to instruct the poor fellow. He stays in the drawing room until she asks him to leave, please, and bellows names like a bull of Bashan."

"She would have to get rid of him, I suppose."

"No self-respecting butler would take the place."

"As bad as that! Then I assume you did not accept the position."

"No, but I might have," Virginia admitted; "in spite of Pietro and Mrs. Gernsner, if I hadn't learned that I would be called upon to act as nursemaid occasionally to two of the wildest youngsters I ever met."

"I hope you understand she did not speak of that to me," Mrs. Phelps said apologetically.

"She would have to get rid of him, I suppose."

"No, but I might have," Virginia admitted; "in spite of Pietro and Mrs. Gernsner, if I hadn't learned that I would be called upon to act as nursemaid occasionally to two of the wildest youngsters I ever met."

"I hope you understand she did not speak of that to me," Mrs. Phelps said apologetically.

"It doesn't matter, for I'm sure it would be a mistake to undertake to refine that household," Virginia assured her. "Mrs. Gernsner is happier than she ever could be again if she knew how funny she was. It would be tragic to open her eyes, even if it were possible, for she hasn't a bit of natural taste or feeling for anything that isn't starchy or garish."

"Well, I'm sorry I sent you there, Miss Brewster. But something better may turn up. Shall I let you know if it does?"

Virginia hesitated a moment before she answered. "I don't think I should care to be a companion if there is anything else I can do."

She confessed. "I'm afraid I must have all my evenings free. Haven't you any clients with other positions to fill?" she hurried on eagerly.

"Oh yes," Mrs. Phelps replied. "but most of them want trained workers. Now if you could take a secretarial course. . ."

"I can't," Virginia returned defiantly. "Sorry I troubled you, Mrs. Phelps, but if there should be something you think I can do, please let me know, if you will."

"Certainly, Miss Brewster. Come in to see me soon if you find nothing elsewhere."

"Thank you, I will."

Virginia hurried out and was in a descending elevator before she asked herself what to do next.

There was a slight sinking feeling at the pit of her stomach that made her uncomfortable but she did not realize that it was hunger until she heard someone in the car speak of luncheon. Virginia looked at her watch and was surprised to learn that it was almost one

Watching the Big Scoreboard

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS) Thirteen postponements have been washed into the major league calendar in the last two days. After halting six of the eight games scheduled on Monday, rain yesterday prevented seven contests. In the only big league game of the day the Washington Senators, aided by home runs by Goslin and Reeves, beat the Browns at St. Louis, 4 to 1. Garland Braxton was touched for three hits and the Browns' one run in the first inning but allowed only four safeties thereafter. G. At Lewisburg, Pa., leaders of the national game gathered to pay tribute to one of its most famous satellites. Presentation was made to Bucknell University of the Christy

Mose Lowenstein, who is training Misstep for an engagement in the American Derby at Arlington Park on June 9, believes that this is the best three-year-old in the country. He is more certain that it is the best horse of that age that he has ever trained. There are many good horsemen who will put in with him that Misstep is the best of the three-year-olds at the present time. His is an impressive record. He went with the leaders all the way in the Kentucky Derby and finished second, beaten only by Reigh Count. Thereafter Misstep gathered the winning portion in the Fairmount Derby. Mathewson, who died in 1925, was graduated from Bucknell before he gained fame as one of the big league's greatest pitchers.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) New York, June 6—(AP)—In the same week that Little Bill Johnston's definite retirement from competitive tennis is made known, the Californian's off-time rival and comrade-in-arms, Big Bill Tilden, is set forth as the guide of youth in a new Davis Cup quest. The domain of tennis or any sport has few stranger turns than this. Eight years ago Little Bill and Big Bill, youths themselves then in the competitive sense, although also champions, made the last American Davis Cup pilgrimage to Europe together. In eight years Tilden and Johnston each figured in only three losing Davis Cup matches. "There has not been any," may never be any international record to match theirs, great though the present French combination of Lacoste and Cochet looms. Johnston went out with a crash last September at Germantown. Little Bill's retirement was taken for grant-temporarily there is no doubt that Misstep is the best of the three-year-olds in training and he will go to the post favorite for the $25,000 chase at Arlington Park on Saturday. Misstep is the property of the Le Mar Stable. Misstep will be piloted in the Arlington fixture by Jockey Willie Garner, who has ridden him in his sensational races this year and is astride him in the accompanying picture. The son of Upset-St. Theresa won $24,950 in the Fairmount Derby. Had his earnings in that race been $50 more he would have had to pick up 128 pounds for the American Derby. As it is he gets into the mile and a quarter contest with 126 pounds.

ed after the debacleleap as against the French. He was only a pale shadow of the once famous mighty atom.

Big Bill, despite seven defeats in two years at the hands of the Lacoste-Cochet combination, is not yet known.

"It was the difference between my backhand of 1919 and that of 1920, plus additional experience, that enabled me to win the Wimbledon tournament, carrying with it the world's title at that time, and later the American championship," said Tilden.

through, in fact Tilden, in defeat last year, was close to as great as he ever has been.

Nine years ago Tilden and Johnston first met in the finals for the national singles championship. Little Bill won but it was the last time.

Why? Because for months afterward Tilden devoted hours daily to perfection of a backhand stroke, his weakness against Johnston. He developed probably the greatest offensive backhand shot tennis has ever known.

Grange and "Cash" Pyle Near Break

Wheaton, Ill., June 6—(AP)—A parting of the ways for C. C. Pyle and Harold (Red) Grange, the former University of Illinois "Galloping Ghost," was seen today by Grange's father.

Possibilities of break between the two have been current in sport circles. Grange's father said he knew something about the case and that there "probably was something in it." Red was expected to arrive in Wheaton today, but as to his future plans, other than that he will make two more motion pictures, the father knows nothing. Failure of Pyle's recent cross country foot race in which Grange was interested was thought to have been the last straw. "Red said last fall that a break might come any time," said his father.

Felsted Wins Derby

Epsom, Eng., June 6—(AP)—Felstead, owned by Sir H. Cunliffe-Owen, won the historic English Derby at Epsom Downs today. Flamingo, owned by Sir Lawrence Phillips, was second and Black Watch, owned by L. Newmann, was third.

Felstead, in winning the 148th running of the famous English classic, was a rank outsider. Nineteen ran.

Walker, Hudkins Both Won Battles

Chicago, June 6—(AP)—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, and Ace Hudkins, who will seek to win that title when the two meet here June 21, won their last "tuning up" fights last night. Walker by decision, Hudkins by knockout.

At St. Paul, Minn., Walker devoted 10 rounds to giving Jack Malone a boxing lesson. Hudkins ended his fight quickly, winning by a technical knockout in the second round from Buck Holley of Oakland, Cal., at Lincoln, Neb. Both fighters will start immediately on intensive training here, they announced. The championship is to be decided at Comiskey Park, home of the White Sox.
